GENERAL REVIVAL IS IN PROGRESS.

Christian Men And Women, Lead
By Rev. Newsom, Seek Greater
Religious Activity In The City.

The revival in progress at the M. E. church, South, is attracting more interest than any similar meeting in this city in several years. It is not merely a Methodist revival but is a general revival. The Christian men and women of the city are insisting that it shall be such and are assisting Rev. J. T. Newsom who is holding the services, to make it such.

Since Tuesday of last week Rev. Newsom has preached twice daily, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 o'clock in the evening, and Sunday at 11 o'clock also, and he will continue these services throughout the week. Large, attentive congregations here hear his sermons, earnest, plain-spoken and full of truths that find ready entrance to the hearts of his hearers and implant there a desire for better living before the world.

The work of awakening greater religious activity among the people of Cloverport is being pushed systematically by Rev. Newsom and the Christian men and women of the city, especially the latter, whom Rev. Newsom has been organizing for the purpose of conducting a thorough canvass from shop to shop, store to store, etc., in the interest of the revival among the men of the city. Special meetings are being arranged for the coming week, and there are other features, which will be found in the notes below, intended to assist in making the revival a success.

NOTES.

Excellent music and singing assist materially in making the revival a success. The singing is done by the combined choirs of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches, accompanied by the following musicians: Misses Ida and Mamie White on the organ and piano, and Messrs. Geo. Hutchings, of Trenton, Ky., and Will Mitchell, of Elkhorn, Ky., on the sliding trombone and cornet. At several services Libton Smith, violinist, has assisted the other musicians.

Rev. Newsom preached an excellent sermon Sunday afternoon to young men and young women.

A ladies' prayer meeting is being held every afternoon in the Sunday school room at 2 o'clock.

This afternoon Rev. Newsom will preach at the Henderson Rondo shops, from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock, to the employees of the railroad.

Sunday afternoon Rev. Newsom will preach a sermon for men only, boys other than those to be excluded. Rev. Newsom will preach on scientific and psychological facts pertaining to the welfare of man.

A special service for railroad men and their families will be held by Rev. Newsom next Friday evening.

The attendance at the Monday evening service was the largest since the beginning of the revival, showing that interest is rapidly growing. Every seat in the rostrum, church proper and Sunday-school room was filled. One man present hadn't been in church in seven years. There were a number of conversions.

The invitation to attend the revival is cordially extended to all. Hundreds have heard one more sermon, and no one can afford to miss an intellectual and spiritual treat like that which is now afforded.

With leaders like Rev. Newsom and Rev. King, great work will be done.

WINS A BRIDE IN SOUTHERN TOWN.

Wickliffe DeHaven, Of This City,
To Be Married To Miss Mattie
Clyde Bonner, Of Mexia, Texas.

Wickliffe DeHaven, the popular and well known Rutherford engineer of this city, will be married to Miss Mattie Clyde Bonner, of Mexia, Texas, Saturday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bonner, at Mexia. At noon tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. DeHaven will leave Mexia for a bridal trip to Houston, New Orleans, Mobile, Pensacola and other southern points. About March 10 they will leave for this city, where they will make their home.

Mr. DeHaven's approaching marriage is a genuine surprise to his friends, who had no intimation of his engagement to Miss Bonner until the invitations to the wedding were received. Mr. DeHaven met Miss Bonner in September, 1903, when she was the guest of Miss Ethel Oelze. Miss Bonner graduated from Jessamine Institute at Nicholasville, Ky., but also attended college at Georgetown, where she met Miss Oelze. Correspondence followed the acquaintance of Miss Bonner and Mr. DeHaven. Last year, in the spring and in the fall, Mr. DeHaven made two visits to Miss Bonner at her home at Mexia—but ostensibly and as his friends thought, he went hunting to the south-west—and their engagement followed.

Mr. DeHaven has been with the Henderson Rondo for about thirteen years and has been one of its most capable engineers. He has many friends here and at other points in the county. Miss Bonner is well remembered here as an attractive and charming young lady.

HOLDING 125,000 POUNDS.

Tarfork, Ky., Feb. 28. (Special) --Tarfork local union No. 1, A. S. E. of M., met at Tarfork Saturday evening. The meeting was presided over by O. W. Elmore, Chairman, and E. E. Hook, Secretary. Dennis Sherran, C. L. Goff and J. N. Chancellor gave a very interesting talk each on the subjects of raising tobacco, corn and potatoes. The lodge is in good working order. It has an enrollment of about thirty-five members, representing about 125,000 pounds of good tobacco, which is held strictly for eight months.

Mr. Elmore, you would do exceedingly well to visit DeSulis, St. Louis, Chas. Tabbing and W. H. Robbins. These are the three men appointed by the lodge to sell this tobacco.

PROMOTERS' DUTIES.

An Associated Press dispatch from Tarfork says: "The big deal to come is the white burley tobacco crop of 1904 which is declared off, and the efforts of the promoters of the Kentucky Association will be concentrated on these three lines: Aiding Secretaries, Gofield, of the Bureau of Corporations, in the investigation of the Tobacco Trust, proposed in a resolution by Representative Kelso, of Kentucky, laying plans for keeping the farmers banded together to corner the crop of 1905; keeping the farmers from getting paucity, and urging them to send their crops to the Cincinnati market, where independent will have the same opportunity as the trust for bidding, thus maintaining prices.

PARTNER ARRESTED.

C. M. Smith, one of the proprietors of the Bradenburgh Distilling Company, and sole owner and appr. brandy distiller of Andover, Ky., was arrested at the office of U. S. Marshal Wetherholt, its president, or, in the case of his temporary absence from Breckinridge county, then upon A. L. Ferri, vice president.

He was arrested at the office of Thomas J. Greenwell, who was arrested in Collector or Crat's office several weeks ago on a similar charge.

The bond has not been fixed. Smith will be tried on the charge named above at the coming term of the Federal Court, which begins on March 13.—Louisville Post.

POLITICAL NEWS AT HARDINSBURG.

Democratic Committee Meets Next
Monday. May Call Primary—Lott Favored By Many Republicans.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Feb. 28. (Special) —Chairman Thomas J. Moore has called a call convening the county committee of the Democratic party, on Monday, March 6, for the purpose of fixing the time, place and manner of nominating the candidates for the various county offices. More candidates for office have entered the arena than were anticipated, and it is possible that the committee may order a primary, though the party organization hopes to avoid this necessity. At any rate the town will be full of candidates and their friends next Monday and a lively time is predicted.

Many prominent Republicans in this county favor the nomination of the Hon. John Y. Lott, of Lewisport, as the candidate for State Senator. They argue that the claims of Hancock county ought to be recognized. Mr. Lott is a gentleman of fine appearance and genial manners and is said to be a splendid stump speaker. Party leaders generally throughout the district think there is good chance to elect the nominee, and they expect to conduct a vigorous campaign. The nomination will probably be made sometime in the early summer.

R. N. MILLER ARRESTED.

Indiansburg, Feb. 23.—R. N. Miller, attorney in the Baldwin block, has been arrested here for a charge of perjury. The Sentinel says the arrest was made on an affidavit sworn to by William T. Tamm, who charges that Miller swore falsely to a marriage affidavit that permitted Smith's daughter to marry John T. Cowles, a student at the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons.

The young people secured a license Monday afternoon and were married by Justice Stout. The next day Smith went to the County Clerk's office and it is said, was assured that Miller had conveled to the statement that the girl was of marriageable age.

Miller declares that this is not the case and that he was a mere witness to the granting of the license.

Mr. Miller was formerly of this city and county attorney.

IMPRESSES CHINN.

Washington, Feb. 25.—When Representative Trimble presented Jack Chinn to President Roosevelt this morning the strenuous Executive was more than "delighted." Col. Chinn said he was a "Bryan Roosevelt Democrat" and the President laughed all over and showed more than the usual number of teeth. He allowed his other callers wait a few minutes while he and the Kentuckian chatted. Col. Chinn says Bryan and Roosevelt are the greatest men in the country.

Burglars Steal Four Watches
At W. B. Oelze's Store; Find Hancock is Firm—Other Notes.

Burglars entered W. B. Oelze's music and jewelry store and the Hancock Route passenger depot Monday night. Mr. Oelze found four watches missing yesterday morning but nothing was missing at the depot. Three watches were left in the place from which the tour were taken and a jug of whisky was unchinked at the depot. The Owensboro Inquirer stated last week that President Dunn of the Daviess county union of the American Society of Equity, had received word from Ohio, Hancock and Meigs counties that a very large quantity of tobacco from these counties will be sent to Owensboro and stored there an advance of $1 a hundred pounds to be made to the growers on the warehouse plan described in the News last week. In this connection the Inquirer says: "Inquiries are also coming from Breckinridge county, and next week a man will be sent to that county to solicit tobacco. The four counties named produce a certain class of tobacco which is different from that of any other section of the dark district, and the control of it would put the society in a position of invincibility."

The Hancock county union of the American Society of Equity has adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, the members of the A. S. E. are thoroughly determined to sell their tobacco for three eights, or not sell at all, and

"Whereas, our sister county of Henderson has appointed a committee to consider the counties of Webster, Marion and Daviess upon a proposition to scale the price a small fraction, therefore be it

"Resolved, That we are opposed to taking any backward steps and that the members of the A. S. E. of Hancock county, Ky., do hereby implore the above named counties to stand pat on three eights."

In the House Judiciary Committee Saturday D. H. Smith called up the Kehoe Tobacco Trust resolution and but for the absence of one Democratic member it would have been favorably reported to the House. The vote was a tie, and as a compromise it was decided that Mr. Smith should confer with the Attorney General, and that official offers no objection the resolution will be favorably reported.

The buyers of the tobacco trust and the people who still doubt that the farmers can stick together, said, during the recent cold weather, that plenty of tobacco would be sold and delivered as there was no tobacco market. This damp weather following the cold spell made a tobacco season and much tobacco was put in shape for the market, but practically none is being delivered to the disappointment of the buyers.

The Simple Life

By Charles Wagner.

Copyright, 1901, By

a society as that of a common spendthrift who esteems his contemporaries by the unimportance of his life and the folly of his ways. These men very different things. To scatter money broadcast does not say it all. There are ways of doing it which enoble men and others which degrade them. Besides, to scatter money seems that one is well content with it. When the sum of sumptuous living takes possession of those whose means are limited the matter becomes strangely altered. And a very striking characteristic of our time is the rage for scattering broadcast which has the very peculiar effect of causing their resources. Unimportance is a bore to society; that we grant willingly. Let us even allow that the prodigality of certain rich men is a safety valve for the escape of the superabundant. We grant it willingly. But the contempt of the rich is that too many people meddle with the safety valve when to practice economy is the part of both their interest and their duty. Their extravagance is a private misfortune and a public danger.

So much for the utility of luxury. What about the aesthetic? We have upon the question of aesthetics—oh, very modestly and without trespassing on the ground of the specialists. Through a common illusion simple and beauty are considered as rivals. But beauty is not only a matter of taste, it is a matter of taste and of taste. We come here to a point very important to everybody, but perhaps of more interest to women than to men.

Those who would have women content themselves in coarse garments of coarse material, who would have her nature in her very heart and misunderstand completely the spirit of things. If dress were only a means to shelter us from cold or rain, a piece of sack or the skin of a beast would answer. But it is 'nearly' more than that. It is a means to impress upon the eyes of others. He transforms into types the things that serve him. The dress is not simply a covering; it is a symbol. I call to witness the rich flowering of national and provincial costume and there worn by the early mothers of the world. The dress of the young girl in her novitiate of womanhood, the future mother, might early become the little exponent of that art of the toilet—her own dressmaker, in short—who one day shall make the dress of her daughter, but with the taste and the gift to impress, to express herself in her clothes. Feminine personality and skill, a gown, without which a woman is no more than a bundle of rags.

The dress you have made for yourself is almost always the most becoming, and, however that may be, it is often the best. Women, who have had something to say to us. The meaning there is in it the greater its worth. To be truly beautiful it must tell us of beautiful things, things personal and veritable. Spend all the money you please upon it; if its form is determined by chance or custom, it has no relation to her who wears it. It is only toggy, a domino. Ultra-fashand his person, giving to existence that lustre without which it lacks charm. For it is not a matter of indifference whether man pays attention to these superfluous necessities or whether he does not. It is a matter of indifference which of us puts soul into his work. Far from considering it as wasteful to give time and thought to the perfecting, beautifying, and poetizing of forms, I think we should spend as much as we can upon them. Nature gives us the means of doing it, the means that should affect contempt for the ephemeral splendor of beauty, with which we garnish our brief days would lose sight of the intentions of him who has put the same care and love into the painting of theilly of an hour and the evening book.

What charm could you find in this borrowed language? The effect of toilet well designed in themselves, but seen again and again on all women indiscriminately, is precisely the same.

I cannot resist citing here a passage from the German Lernmacher that will affect the reader.

"Nature has given to the fingers of woman a charming art, which she knows by instinct and which is peculiarly her own, as well to the womb and liverwork to the swift and subtle spider. She is a skillful artist in the art of her own grace and in her unconsciousness, the spinner of the mystery in which her wish to please arises itself. All the talent she expends in her effort to equal man in the other arts is never worth the spirit and conception wrought out through a bit of stuff in her skillful hands."

"Well, I wish that this art were more honest than it is. As education should consist in thinking with one's mind, feeling with one's heart, expressing the little personalities of the honest, invisible 'I', which, on the contrary, the art of the toilet is the opposite. How aesthetics would gain by more simplicity! Instead of this luxury in job lots, all these decorations, pretensions, but, rather from intention, we should have an infinite variety; happy improvisations would strike our eyes, the unexpected in a thousand ways, the unexpected in the means, and we should realize over the secret of impressing on a drapery or a piece of furniture that stamp of human personality which makes certain types priceless."

Let us pass at last to things simple; still; I mean the little details of housekeeping which the people of the world find an unimportant. Their contempt for material things, for the humble care a house demands, arises from a confusion very common, but none the less unfortunate, which comes from the belief that beauty and poverty are incompatible, while others lack them; that some occupations are distinguished and agreeable, such as writing letters, playing the harp, and that others are mean and disagreeable like blacking shoes, sweeping and watching the pot boil. Children are born with the desire to do something to do with it. All depends on the hand in which they rest and the spirit that moves it. Poetry is not in things; it is in us. It must be impressed on objects without, as the sculptor impresses it on the marble; the woman who has the gift finds a way to make order, fitness and convenience reign in her house. She puts care and art into everything she undertakes. To do well what one has to do is not in her eyes the principal aim, but rather the right all. This is her aim, and she knows attractiveness that the dwellings of princes, if everything is left to mere chance, cannot possess.

Thus understood life quickly shows its beauty, and the more it is lived, the more it becomes apparent. To be oneself, to realize in one's natural place the kind of beauty which is fitting there—this is the ideal. How fresh apparition of a young working girl or a daughter of the fields wearing the costume of her country and beautified by the innocence of a girl.

These same reflections might be applied to the fashion of decorating and arranging our houses. If there are talents which reveal an entire conception of life, but that are persons, known only to themselves, the art of art, there are no interiors which after their manner speak to the mind. Why, under pretext of decorating our homes, do we destroy that personal character which always has such value? Why have our sleeping rooms, confining those of hotels, our restaurants, etc., all the same? By making predominant a uniform type of official beauty?

What a pity to go through the houses of a city, the cities of a country, the countries of a vast continent, and encounter everywhere certain forms, ideas, and ways of living, which are in the end impressed on that which strikes our eyes. But the exercise of the arts and the contemplation of their products are restricted privileges. It is not given to everyone to possess, to comprehend or to create anything. Yet there is a kind of beauty which is not limited to the house, it is everywhere—the beauty which springs from the hands of our wives and daughters. Without it what is the most richly decorated house? A dead dwelling place. With it the best home has life and brightness, the most feeble appears transformed, the poorest becomes more attractive; there is perhaps none more universal use than this beauty. It knows how to shape itself by means of the crudest tools in the midst of the greatest difficulties. When the house is ruined, the poor woman has the table modest, the woman who has the gift finds a way to make order, fitness and convenience reign in her house. She puts care and art into everything she undertakes. To do well what one has to do is not in her eyes the principal aim, but rather the right all. This is her aim, and she knows attractiveness that the dwellings of princes, if everything is left to mere chance, cannot possess.

Thus understood life quickly shows its beauty, and the more it is lived, the more it becomes apparent. To be oneself, to realize in one's natural place the kind of beauty which is fitting there—this is the ideal. How the mission of woman broadens and deepens in significance when it is summed up in this: To put a soul into the inanimate and to give to this gracious spirit of our common life, which is the most breath of human beings, is a mission! Is not this better than to covet what one has not and to give oneself up to longings for a poor imitation of others' finery?

THOUSANDS IN CHURCH.

In the history of the city of Louisville, which is now over a century old, a quarter old, nothing in the shape of a church has been built in that length of time has ever approached the demonstration made by its people yesterday. Only national gatherings held here have witnessed such moving throngs as swept the down-town streets in mid-day and the thoroughfares over the entire city in the morning and evening. The "Day of Prayer" inaugurated by the managers of the great simultaneous revival in the Falls Cities was the cause of this great outpouring of people. At the lowest estimate $400,000 people attended.

Louisville yesterday, and last night and 4,000 in New Albany, making a total of 44,000 who entered the portals of the churches during the day—

A PLEA FOR CURTAILMENT OF ACREAGE OF TOBACCO.

COMMUNICATED.

Hardinsburg Ky., Feb. 21, 1905.
Just now, in this section, and we do not the same is true in others, and know that it should be true in all of them, the subject of reducing the acreage of "dark" tobacco is being very much agitated. And while there is some difference of opinion as to whether it would be best and safe to try it, it is an unanimous opinion that it would be best to reduce it if that fact can be successfully accomplished.

Now we admit that there will be many difficulties to overcome. In carrying out the plan of reduced production, but was anything worth the doing ever accomplished without an effort and without having many obstacles to overcome? And in this case will not the end justify the means, and the fit resulting therefrom pay you back with interest for the effort put forth?

It is tearing by some, and this is the only real question that it hinges on that the tobacco growers are not yet sufficiently well organized to carry it on successfully and that the great number on the outside of the organization will wish to do it. The question is organized and the plan adopted, be encouraged to believe that there is a great many very small crops and have higher prices, and will, instead of reducing their acreage, increase it, and instead of a reduced production the opposite may result so that those on the outside of the organization may profit by its efforts, and at the expense and on account of the sacrifice of those on the inside.

Now this is a question to consider well, and we can not ignore it. But we are "right here" to say that we can reduce the acreage, in spite of all such fools who are so idiotically, selfishly blind to every tobacco grower's interests and especially their own; and we are optimistic enough to believe, as strange as it may seem, that a little common sense can be pounded through the thick craniums of these fellows, and that we can at least appeal to them through the only source that they can be appealed to, that is through their own narrow selfishness, and that it can easily be demonstrated

GRASPING REALLY VITAL PROBLEMS.

Roosevelt, Without Any Fear Or Falter, Seeks To Shift Load Of Wrongs Of Common People.

President Roosevelt, through his alertness and fearlessness in ordering investigations of the oil trust, the tobacco trust and the steel trust, has won the warm praise and gratitude of the masses of America, people regardless of party affiliation. He has also won the hearty endorsement and praise of Democratic as well as Republican papers and all are urging that the fight be pushed against these great aggregations of capital which have preyed on the common people as the octopus preys on the smaller fish of the sea. Here is what the Cincinnati Post says about Roosevelt, The Man:

"With firmness equal to his fearlessness, President Roosevelt has grasped hold upon the really vital problems of this Nation's destiny.

"He has ceased to be a politician and has become the statesman. The difference is marked. The statesman is the driver who holds the reins and whip and controls the brake, while the politician sits in the coach, arguing about its destination.

"Roosevelt is not a Republican President, but is the President of all the people. He is concerned with the spirit and purpose of all the masses. His sympathies are with the burden-bearers, and are alive and keen.

"The ever-increasing load of wrongs for which the common people have sought to have lightened and have failed in their lack of concentration and capable leadership—Roosevelt has resolutely seized and is seeking to shift.

"Other Presidents have equivocated and compromised, failing to comprehend or fearing to grasp the one great question that for two decades has filled the hearts of the American people with discontent and misgivings; Roosevelt does not for a moment fear or falter.

"For him the powerful trusts have no terrors. Within him is the virile spirit of the people and supporting him are the irresistible strength of a nation of freemen.

"If heretofore the trusts have seemed stronger than the Government it has been because the trusts have had stronger men at the head of them than the Government had at its head. Today the situation is being reversed. A man has appeared in the Presidency who is worthy of his high place.

"He is demonstrating the real meaning of self-government. The confused habille of discontent is being electrified by him to clear speech. The indefinable longings or millions are being molded into definite policy.

"Washington and Lincoln taught the world to know us; Roosevelt is teaching us to know ourselves. They would have independence and nation; he is developing our manhood and self-repect.

NOMINATION RATIFIED. Washington, Feb. 28. The Senate today confirmed postmasters for Kentucky as follows: John H. Rowland, Covington; R. B. Boulden, Millersburg.

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a decided set-a-cure for all kinds of condition powder. Thought put up in coarser form than Thresher's Black Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of that medicine, curing the worms, taking up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so healthful that stock grow and thrive with an occasional dose in the diet. It cures all kinds of worms and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and roup and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives additional weight to all kinds of new life. Every farmer and raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

Forreson, Kas., March 25, 1904.
I have been using your Black Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine on my stock and poultry for the last two kinds of stock food, but I have found that yours is the best for my purpose.

SENATOR PATTERSON ON THE STATEHOOD BILL.

When the Statehood Bill was under discussion in the United States Senate, Senator Patterson, of Colorado, offered an amendment, the effect of which, if adopted, would have been to permit women of full age in the proposed two new States to vote for members of the constitutional conventions and then the ratification or rejection of the Constitution. In defending his amendment Senator Patterson said:

"Who will say, Mr. President, that such a privilege should not be given to the women of these now four Territories. It is the crucial time for the future of these four Territories in connection with the proposed Statehood. The constitutional conventions will have everything with which women are most deeply concerned to consider, the question of divorces, the question of the right of parents to children, the question of the ownership of property by wives to the proceeds of their own labor, and the question of schools. Who is more deeply interested in these different questions than are women of these now four Territories? Whatever may be said of the bravery, the courage, the self-sacrificing devotion, and the patriotism of those who left behind them the civilization of the comforts of their eastern homes, as applicable to the men, may be emphasized fivefold as applicable to the women. Mr. President, this is in the line of the progress of civilization."

The amendment was rejected, but history will not have to record of Thomas M. Patterson that he was one of those who made himself "the laughing stock of posterity" by standing in the way of evolution.

REDUCED ACREAGE.

The question of reducing the tobacco acreage throughout the dark belt this year meets with universal consent and acquiescence among the organized planters. This course will greatly simplify the situation for the next crop and enable the planters not only to hold their tobacco, controlling the market and prices, but to obtain more for one acre's product than heretofore realized on two or three acres, making better tobacco with less labor and better yield per acre. Meanwhile the farmers will be able to meet yearly or monthly the expenses of the farm by producing more of other crops, which come in three months time and are marketed all seasons of the year. They will thus be able to hold back their tobacco until the demand exists for it at good prices.—Nashville Banner.

THOUGHTS.

"As no atom of earth perishes, so shall no soul perish or lose its personality. The real acorn, the real grain of wheat does not perish, or lose its identity in dust. It is only the worthless grain and the husk and shell that pass back to the common mould. So then, if you want immortality, make it. If you want your soul saved, make it worth saving."—Jouquin Miller.

WHEN temper is lost, your religion is lost, so is your business.

THE only sure way to make things come your way is to go after them early and often.

HIT hard and smile the while is Brother Newson's way of reaching men and women.

THE good sisters of this town are on the move and when they get on the move the devil gets out.

IT's only a little March of thirty days 'till spring. So heads up, eyes right, keep step and we are there. And then what? Just keep marching.

ENTHUSIASM is Brother Newson's keynote. He has it. He also has the energy, the courage and the happy gift of keeping pleasant with it all. No wonder success attends him.

A little ginger in your business, in your efforts, in your religion, in whatever calling, so it is manly and right, helps. Strike early, often and in the same spot, always remembering to temper your looks with courtesy and a smile.

STOCKHOLDERS in the canning factory received their six per cent. dividend on stock last week. This is about the first and only enterprise for Cloverport where the stockholders have gotten any returns. And they have invested thousands of dollars. Things are coming our way now. It's a long lane that has no turn. We still have faith in old Cloverport.

BROTHER NEWSOM takes the short, strait cut. He knows men and women better than they know themselves. And knowing them, he reaches them. All men know the truth when they hear it. And when they hear it with good reasons, plain and simple, and Christ-like they are moved. It's the reaching and the moving of men that tells in any time of action.

DON'T forget our guessing contest. It will be your last chance to strike a fortune at so little cost and effort. All you have to do is to guess the amount of money paid into the Treasury Department at Washington on the 27th day of March, 1905. Here's the why the treasury receipts are running now:

IN "The Cosmopolitan" for March David Graham Phillips has an article on "The Empire of Rothschild" which is peculiarly interesting at the present time, in view of the fact that the house of Rothschild has recently sent to New York two of its sons to learn banking and finance as professed in America. These representatives of the generation that will in a few years control the destiny of the house are working as clerks in the office of a New York firm. Mr. Phillips tells graphically the history of this mighty European "first-class power" and describes the principles, methods and purposes which have guided it from its founding in the early days of the last century.

H. J. LAMAR, the prominent Georgia cotton grower, has addressed a plea to southern farmers. What he says of cotton applies as well to growers of tobacco. He says in part as follows: "Now that the cotton growers' convention, at New Orleans, has met, and decided upon the 'modus operandi' of conquering the foci of the cotton industry of this country and whose duly appointed officers are now in the act of innumerate the plan throughout the entire cotton belt in every county in every state and every militia district of every county, let us rally to their aid and lend them every encouragement possible in the premises, not only by meeting together at the designated places, but insisting on our neighbors doing so, by so doing, and working hand in hand, and shoulder to shoulder, we will place ourselves in the position of defeating our enemies and holding our own against any and all comers. There never has been the time in our history when we were so well prepared to do battle with them as now, and the opportunity will never again perhaps be given us to throw off the galling yoke which we have chafed under, for so many long years."

The tobacco trust chains that it has twelve millions of pounds of tobacco on hand. What if it has? How long will this amount last the trust which uses half a million pounds a day. We heard nothing about this vast supply until the farmer began to think for himself and wanted a say in the price. You wouldn't have heard anything about this big stock on hand this year, either, if the trust could have bought the present crop at two fours and one, just as they have been doing for years. The cotton crop is not unlike the tobacco crop. The same conditions prevail in one as in the other. The size of the cotton crop has very little to do with the price of cotton. In 1898 and 1899 the cotton crop was a little more than 11,000,000 bales and sold at 5 cents. In 1903, the crop was 10,700,000 bales, about 5 per cent. less than that of 1899, and brought 15 cents. And now the crop of 1904 is only about 8 per cent. larger than that of 1903, and down goes the price to 6 cents, less than half the price in 1903. Does the law of supply and demand prevail in this instance or is it the imagination of the speculators? The farmer has the long end of the string in both cotton and tobacco and it remains entirely with him whether he holds it or not. Our advice to the farmer is to keep holding if it takes all summer. And we would further advise him not to plant a big crop out it at least 25 per cent. This will give him another handhold on the string.

came out of the conflict with but little practical knowledge of warfare. He

PROVERBS

"When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not gain strength and flesh we say give them Scott's Emulsion.

It is like the penny in the milk because it works and because there is something astonishing about it.

Scott's Emulsion is simply a milk of pure cod liver oil with some hypophosphites especially prepared for delicate stomachs.

Children take to it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as naturally to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

For all weak and pale and thin children Scott's Emulsion is the most satisfactory treatment.

We will send you the penny, i. e., a sample free.

Be sure that this picture is in the form of a label on the wrapper of every bottle of Emment's Extract you buy.

Though his time will be extended on his next trip, it will be necessary for you to make your engagements with him early.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Rev. L. D. Younghood, of the Michigan M. E. conference, gave an illustrated lecture at Oelze's Hall Thursday evening, under the auspices of the public school, which received a fourth of the proceeds for its library.

The Masonic Lodge will not make public the date of its annual picnic and barbecue this year for several months yet, though certain Hardinsburg lodges and several private individuals seem to be in a hurry to give out the dates of their picnics. The Masons fear no competition, as they will have their barbecue sometime in August, while the other big picnics in the country will be early in the summer.

The Henderson Konte pay train was here Friday afternoon. The pay train's visits here are more than usually appreciated because of little money being held in circulation on account of the "tied up" condition of tobacco.

Brick for the erection of the Cloverport Water, Light & Ice company's ice factory was hauled from the Patton brick yard last week and placed near the site, near the Henderson Route s hops.

The daily weather forecast can now be seen at A. R. Fisher's druggist, as well as at J. C. Nolte & Bro's store and the post office. Mr. Nolte has offered to furnish reports to other citizens who wish to post them in their places of business.

A lamp in the baggage car on west-bound train No. 48, Wednesday evening, fell to the floor, at Akron, and set fire to the car, but the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

Emmett Mattingly went to Owensboro Sunday to take a position in a barber shop. He formerly held a position as carter at Chas. Hamman's shop.

March during the revival at the Methodist church.

Last Wednesday, the 175th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, was observed here in the usual way, the postoffice and banks being closed and the majority of the citizens taking a holiday. The K. P. supper was held in the evening at Oelze's Hall.

A "gang" of "knights of the road" have been begging about town the past week, though they were not in evidence during the colder part of the winter.

The case of Price Ray, charged with conducting a public auction without license, in police court, was continued until next week on account of the illness of Judge Wills, who has been ill since last Wednesday with a grippe.

It is understood that a member of one of the Cloperton local unions of the American Society of Equity offered to sell his tobacco to a local buyer for less than $8 round, that the buyer refused to pay and told the grower to hold his tobacco and remain true to his promise to hold his crop for the Lynchburg price.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Keil will leave next Monday for New York city, where they will reside. Mr. Keil has secured a more lucrative position in New York than he has here at the Henderson Route shop.

Julian Brown is having building material put on the house for the feed stable and feed store, which will be half brick and half frame and will be erected on a lot east of M. Hamman & Son's store.

ICE GORGES BREAK.

Ice gorges at various points in the Ohio broke the latter part of last week and are now running out. Only a few boats were damaged by the moving ice.

The steamer Big Kanawha was sunk by the ice at Mayville. The Conqueror was damaged at Evansville and the wharfboat at Leavenworth was wrecked.

The ice at this point first moved Wednesday afternoon but soon gorged again. Thursday morning it moved again and the river was clear of ice, with the exception of shore ice. Thursday afternoon ice is still floating by from big gorges that have broken above here and navigation cannot be resumed for sometime yet. Local craft escaped injury from the moving ice.

CALL FOR COUNTY CONVENTION A. S. O. F.

For the purpose of completing the organization of the Breckenridge County Union of the American Society of Equity, delegates from every local union in the county are urgently requested to meet at Hardinsburg on Saturday, March 11. It is necessary for the accomplishment of this purpose that every local union be represented.

E. B. Oglesby, Dept. Pres.

CONDITION SERIOUS.

There was no improvement yesterday in the condition of Gus Gibson, who has been seriously ill since Friday, when a blood clot formed in a blood vessel of the right leg. Mr. Gibson was first taken ill with a "tied up" condition of tobacco.

The Henderson Konte pay train was here Friday afternoon. The pay train's visits here are more than usually appreciated because of little money being held in circulation on account of the "tied up" condition of tobacco.

GETS MOOLEYVILLE RIG.

The Kentucky and Indiana Oil Co. has just purchased a complete drilling outfit, which is being moved here and the work of drilling a new well will begin at once. Judge Wampler says he proposes to push the work to a finish.

Judge Wampler went to Mooleyville Tuesday for some machinery which will be used in operating the oil well at this place.—Hawkinsville Plaindealer.

A CORRECTION.

Owing to a typographical error, the first three lines in the ninth paragraph of the article entitled "A Plea For Curtailment Of Acreage Of Tobacco", read, "Now I believe we are if enough strong to control marketing and hold our tobacco we", when they should read, "Now I believe if we are strong enough to control marketing and hold our tobacco we", etc.

WONDERFUL CURE OF SORE HANDS

By Cuticura After the Most Awful Suffering
Ever Experienced

EIGHT DOCTORS

And Many Remedies Failed to do a Cent's Worth of Good

"I was troubled with sore hands, so sore that when I would wash them in the water the pain would be so great, they would pull off and the nail would break. The nail would bleed flowing from at least fifty places on each hand. Words could never tell the suffering I endured for three years. I tried everything, but could get no relief. I tried at least eight different doctors, but did not get any relief. The hands were as raw as when I got through doctoring as when I began. I also tried many remedies, but none of them ever did me one cent worth of good. I would feel so bad mornings, to think I had to go to work and stand the pain for hours, that I would cry and cry and cry. Before I started to work I would have to wrap every finger up separately, so as to try and keep the fingers hot, and then wear gloves over the coat to keep the grease from getting on my work. At night I would have to wear gloves; in fact, I had to wear gloves all the time. But thanks to Cuticura, that is all over now."

CURED FOR 50 C.

"After doctoring for three years, and spending much money, a box of Cuticura Ointment ended all my trouble. I have not had any trouble since I used any, and I don't know what sore hands are now, and never lost a day's work while using Cuticura Ointment."
